GOOD WORK

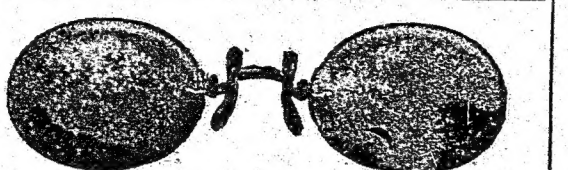

Done Daily in Norway. Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Norway still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Oscar I. Pitts, Cottage street, Norway, Me., says: "Several years ago I began to suffer from an acute attack of kidney trouble. I had caught a severe cold which settled on my kidneys and brought on terrible pains in the small of my back. There seemed to be a congestion of my kidneys and it was only with great difficulty that I was able to pass the secretions. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and deciding to try them, I procured a box from Stone's Drug Store. They helped me from the first and after taking the contents of a few boxes, I was cured. I have not had any trouble from my kidneys since I am glad to give Doan's Kidney Pills my highest endorsement." 20 21

The Lumbermen of Maine.

There were shots in the crowded street, And a martial music strain, As banners waved and loud drums beat, As the men of the city came to meet The Lumbermen of Maine.

A thousand strong and more From the woods and streams came they; From where the Kennebec's turbulent roar, And the swift Foxcroft twists the oar, And Passamaquoddy Bay.

Strong knights of the axe and pole, And slaves of the rail and the saw, To brave limb and dauntless soul By the breadth of the forest air made whole By the use of nature's law.

They marched with a steady tread Towards the front of death and pain, And the splintered stumps of trees were red, And the rivers waited to raft the dead Of the Lumbermen of Maine.

And a thousand more to seek The axe and the setting pole, And the forest camp by the swollen brook, And in squares the vacant places took To keep the torn ranks whole.

Dusty and hot and worn, The regiment came today, With a battle flag all soiled and torn, And a dozen footless heroes borne.

Through the city's double tide Slowly they marched again, With the lost number in their pride That made them tall as they marched beside The throng of common men.

But under the trees and the shade They came from the battle-plain; The others will never fall the tree, Or sing and dance when the rats float free With the Lumbermen of Maine.

By CORA M. W. GREENE. I know the world, the foolish world; And I have learned that she Has anguish in her bosom curled The same as you and me.

Yet sometimes with kindly smile, She beams upon us for awhile. The poor, old, disappointed world! I know the path and the goal, Of crushed ambitions closely furled Of hidden in her heart.

Of friendship broken and the pain That memory tries to dull in vain. I know her wickedness and blame. She's shamed with bitter tears, her birth, and tears, her triumphs, shame, Mistake, and all the rest.

I've listened to her bitter soles, And to her breaking heart's slow throbs. I have seen her "crucial as the grave," Then turn around and strive to save.

The one her madness fell, The other, she needs no spite. She righteous with no sense of right, And yet she waits, gay, debonaire,— Ready for love or play for life.

Will grovel to a millionaire, Or snatch his wealth away. My heart has ached with pride for her, And with shame I've nearly died for her.

One of the Biggest Problems of All.

If the people of Maine understood how near their doors exists a menace which threatens their peace, health and property as no invading army of human beings could, there would not come to the editor's notice almost daily information which so conclusively that moth pests by the hundreds in plain sight, traveled thoroughfares as left undisturbed to hatch their millions of eggs and, in due course of time, to yield their millions of moths to fly into uninfested sections, there to deposit their eggs.

If the people of Maine understood how awful is the danger from the brood and the gypsy moths, they would spend a good share of their time for the next ten years in an energetic hunt for the nests of the pests to accomplish extermination.

There are brown and gypsy moths in Maine. They came from Massachusetts in which state the scourge started in Medford. The story is a short one so far as the past has anything to do with it. That story, however, teaches how thoroughly it is fraught with future danger.

Forty years ago Professor Trevelick of Harvard imported these pests from Europe in the hope of breeding a hardy silkworm. But a gale of wind upset his experiments and carried his pests through an open window far and wide.

From that abortive experiment has sprung a scourge which has cost Massachusetts and other New England States countless millions and which still flourishes in spite of the united efforts of state and federal authorities. It is estimated that since 1890, $10,000,000 has been spent in the war against these moths, and this is only a small item compared with the loss of property and the diminishing of real estate values which has resulted from their ravages.

A BUGLAR'S AWFUL DEED may not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for constipation, and give wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlap, of Leadville, Tenn. If ailing, try them. 25c at The Noyes Drug Store. 18-21

Buffalo Bill to Retire.

Considerable interest has been aroused in this vicinity through the announced appearance of Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East at Lewiston, Maine, June 3rd, 1911.

Cody, the original and "Buffalo Bill," travels with the big exhibition and positively appears at every performance, rain or shine, but this will be his farewell appearance in this section as he is soon to retire.

Arrangements have been made with the railroad officials, to run express trains at special rates from the various stations along the line and there will be special provisions for the accommodation of those who wish to visit the exhibition.

One of the principal contests of the red men, in which he took active part, will be pictured in the open-air melodrama, "The Battle of Summit Springs," an engagement in miniature introducing more than one hundred Indians and as many cavalrymen and soldiers. Contrasted with this scene will be an Oriental spectacle which will picture the beauties of the Far East, its pagodas and its strange costumes and customs.

Turning again to American history, there will be an Attack Upon an Emigrant Train and A Holiday at "T-E" Ranch.

Woman's Stomach.

It Causes Much Misery if not Kept in Condition.

Many women who would not tolerate anything but a scrupulously clean kitchen continue day in and day out to suffer from an unclean stomach, where food ferments, turns sour and becomes putrid.

It is just as easy for a woman to keep her stomach clean, as to keep her kitchen clean; in fact it is much easier, and they will put strength and energy into the walls of the stomach, and cause the juices of digestion to flow freely, so that all food will promptly digest.

Women; keep your stomach clean and free from fermenting food, and you will find that other ailments such as nervousness, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, constipation and palpitation of the heart will disappear.

Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store and druggist everywhere sell Mi-o-na stomach tablets for only 50 cents a large box. They are guaranteed to cure indigestion or any stomach trouble, or money back. They stop belching of gas and after dinner distress in five minutes. Give them a trial; they won't disappoint you. One woman writes:

"I had been bothered for eight years with gas, belching and bloating of the stomach. MI-O-NA cured me." 21-23

Grover Hill.

True Browne drove out his pulp timber into the river last week.

Van Buren Grover from Halifax, Mass., is the guest of relatives in town for awhile.

Road Commissioner F. J. Russell and crew worked on the highway the first of the week.

George Spinney has returned home from a visit with his children at North Bethel and Newry.

Mrs. Maurice Tyler is convalescing at the C. M. G. hospital and will soon be able to return home.

G. A. Blake of Milan, N. H., has been doing carpenter work for his nephew, Clyde Whitman at Elmhurst.

Amy Wheeler, who has been in poor health this spring, has been enjoying a visit with relatives at Bethel village.

Fred Wheeler and Evander Whitman took the job to drive out pulp timber from the mill stream, so called, into the main river.

W. H. Hutchinson of Pleasant View Farm met with a serious accident by cutting one of his knees while repairing fence one day last week, necessitating the attendance of a physician who took several stitches to close the wound. Mr. Hutchinson will be unable to work for some time and at this busy season it is hard for him to be inactive.

Middle Intervale.

It is very dry now and some are growing for rain.

A. F. Marston of West Bethel has been traveling here for the "White Slave Trade."

Carroll Brown has bought an old house of Orlando Buck, to use the lumber to help build a new house in Bethel village.

We have received word from our girl, Anna Gray Kervin, of the death of her own mother, in Boston. Only a short time ago she wrote of the death of her sister.

A beautiful card has come from a soldier friend at the National Soldiers' Home, Togus.—"In Memoriam to our Dead Patriots, Washington's Tomb, Mt. Vernon, Va."

A Dress Hint to the Business Girl.

The girl worker in office or shop will soon discover that plain, well made clothes are a necessity, and that cheap finery can never, under any circumstances, be made to take their place.

With the everyday coat and skirt suit, a warm coat for chilly or rainy days will be found useful. Another necessary way is a waterproof coat, not one of the shapeless, sloppy things sometimes in vogue, but a neat gray, tan or navy mackintosh that buttons close up to the chin, military fashion. With it could be worn a small hat swathed with a brightly colored or Oriental silk scarf.

Tawdry flowers or feathers; chiffons, laces, nets and the like should have no place in the workaday wardrobe. These are for holidays, though tawdry flowers and feathers are never permissible.

Fancy trimmed blouses with lace yokes should never be worn, as one or two washings make them look cheap and worn. Navy blue serge or any cloth in a dark color is the best selection for the suit.

Footwear is one of the most important studies in the business girl's curriculum. She should remember that cheap boots are the most expensive in the long run and that quality of leather should be considered before the latest fad. Boots are better than low shoes, as they are a protection to the ankle and keep it safely for dress occasions.

In the winter there is the smart blouse of dark flannel for everyday wear, and in the summer there is the waist of light tub materials to be worn with a dark blue serge skirt. These, with well fitting boots, often gives the working girl a smarter appearance than her sister of the French mode gown. Neat neckwear and waist line complete the trig costume that is sure to mark the lady anywhere.

If Mothers Only Knew

When children are cross, irritable and peevish I do not signify that they have bad tempers; it shows that there is something wrong with the child which it is not able to explain, and which the mother—If She Only Knew—could easily and quickly cure. Mothers, study your child's symptoms: if cross, peevish, nervous, grinds the teeth, wets the bed, picks the nose, has variable appetite or bowels, suffers with wind-colic or headache, is irritable and restless, has furred tongue or offensive breath, you may be sure that child is troubled with worms, which cause nearly all the ills of childhood. Don't delay—disease comes suddenly—a few doses of the wonderful old-time remedy—will give your children that vigorous health which is so important to their future happiness. Dr. True's Elixir expels the worms, if there are any—it not it acts as a gentle laxative and tonic. It cleans out all waste matter from the stomach and bowels, tones and strengthens the entire system of adults as well as children.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

Hebron Wins.

Hebron Academy won the annual Dartmouth interscholastic track meet at Hanover, N. H., Saturday, by a comfortable margin. Two interscholastic records were broken, Belcher of Hebron making 11 feet, 8 inches in the pole vault, two inches better than the previous mark, and Llewellyn of Colby Academy took a fifth of a second off the 100 yards dash, doing it in 10 seconds flat. About 130 men were entered in the events. The standing of the teams was as follows:—
Hebron Academy, 39; Tilton Seminary,
18; Lawrence, Mass., High school, 14;
Colby academy, 12; Concord, N. H. high school and Richards high school, Newport, N. H., tied at 8; Worcester, Mass., South high school and Worcester, Mass.,
Classical high school, tied at 4; Stevens high school, Claremont, N. H., 3; Manchester, N. H., high school and Dorchester, Mass., high school, tied 1. Hebron won four firsts in the eleven events, as follows:

200 yards dash—Won by Ashton, Hebron.
Time, 22.5 seconds.
Shot put—Won by Allen, Hebron. Distance, 45 feet, 3 inches.
Broad jump—Won by O'Brien, Hebron. Distance, 19 feet, 3 inches.
Pole vault—Won by Belcher, Hebron. Distance 11 feet, 8 inches.

The Fox's Cunning.

His Efforts to Bewilder Hounds Often Successful.

When foxes find themselves beaten they often resort to peculiar means to endeavor to bewilder their pursuers.
I do not for one moment wish to rob the species of one bit of their traditional cunning, but it always seems to me that legend has surrounded them with a greater brain power and thoughtfulness than they really possess.

It is usual to place to the credit of the fox every accident which occurs in a run which turns out in his favor, whereas in seven cases out of ten it has no connection whatever with the scheming of the hunted animal. The other day a Goodland fox, after a sharp burst, found himself too close to their dogs to be safe, so he scrambled onto the roof of a dwelling house in Sleights village. The probability is that, had hounds been alone they would have thrown their heads up and have been beaten, for they rarely look for the unexpected.

The foxhound essentially relies upon his nose. They may course the fox for the last few hundred yards of a hunt when they run from scent to view, but this is unorthodox and belongs to greyhounds. The same applies to the use of their brains. There are hounds which think, but they are the exception,
so that when they have cast themselves unsuccessfully they invariably give up and wait for the assistance of their huntsmen.

This Goodland fox was seen on the house-tops, and he knew it for whatever powers the species may or may not have they undoubtedly do know by some mysterious means when they are discovered during a run. He therefor continued his journey, jumping from roof to roof, twenty feet into the roadway below. Despite this the fox ran on for half a mile or so before the hounds ran into him.—[Maine Woods

Isaac A. Dennison.

Isaac A. Dennison of Mechanic Falls died late this afternoon after a long illness.

Mr. Dennison has been feeble for some time and for the past few weeks he has gradually failed.

I. A. Dennison was born at Burke, Vermont, June 18, 1820. At the age of thirteen he went into a grocery store for himself. In 1849 he moved to Norway where he remained until 1875 when he came to Mechanic Falls, where he has since lived. In 1844 he married Laurestine Bemis. Mr. Dennison ran a store in the Dennison Block for seventeen years,
at first having a big store, keeping supplies of all kinds for the people of the Dennison Paper Co. Later he ran a grocery store near by. At the time he was in the Dennison Block he was doing a business of $75,000 a year.

Mr. Dennison was a strong patriot, had always voted the straight Republican ticket and never has missed voting at a Presidential election. At the time of the Civil War, while he could not go to war himself because of his health, he paid a substitute and also took care of that man's family during the war. At the time of the assassination when Mr. Dennison was living in Norway, when he heard the news, he was so affected that he was obliged to go to bed because of illness. He felt as if the Country would surely go to pieces then and his love for that Country was so strong that the news fairly made him ill.

Besides his wife he leaves three daughters, Mrs. Hulda Woodbury, Mrs. Clara Enrich of Bridgton, Mass., and Katharine Dennison, who lives at home.

"What Fun Do You Find in Fishing?"

The above question is one which is frequently asked of the fisherman says an exchange. No fisherman can answer that question to the satisfaction of any person who asks it. The man who asks,
"What fun do you find in fishing?"
places himself without the pale of those who fish. He cannot understand the promptings of the fisherman's heart,
and he probably never will learn.

There is a question whether or not the fishing habit may be acquired. It seems more likely that every man who fishes with keen enjoyment has the fishing instinct born within him.

Those who do not belong to the great Brotherhood of Gentle Anglers cannot understand why a man should sit patiently along the shore with his line dangling in the water, cannot understand why he should broil in a boat trolling, cannot understand why he will tire himself out following the winding of a trout brook through the woods. To the man who loves to fish there is nothing remarkable about this. To the man who loves to fish every minute spent on lake or stream is golden. Possibly he may catch no fish—possibly he may not even get a nibble, yet the true fisherman will tell you that all the time his line is in the water joy sings in his heart. The true fisherman will tell you that not all the fun in fishing is to catch fish. Your fisherman is an apostle of patience and perseverance. The breeze which ripples the water gives him pleasure, the swallows skimming over the surface pleases him,
the blue sky, the white clouds, the evergreen and butterflies, and the eddies made by the canoe paddle, all contribute to his day of pleasure.

Just as the fisherman the question, "What fun do you find in fishing?" must be just as ridiculous as the fisherman seems to be to the man who asks the question.
Neither one understands the other, nor can either one explain. The man who loves to fish and the man who cares nothing about it belong to "different breeds of cats,"—that's all.—[Maine

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Ella Frances Ford.
The passing away of Ella Frances Ford is an event of unusual sadness to the large circle of friends to whom she was intimately known from childhood, and for whose long life of usefulness her memory is held in sincere reverence.
She was one of the three daughters of Charles A. and Eliza Ann C. (Happgood) Ford of Waterford, born in this village where the last three years of her life have been spent, with the exception of several months in which she was confined on two occasions for treatment in St. Barnabas hospital, Portland.

Miss Ford had held a number of very honorable and responsible positions of service during the greater part of her life. She was for a long period a compositor in the office of the Youth's Companion, and in the Perkins Institution for the Blind in Boston, and was assistant matron of the last named institution a number of years. She has held the position of housekeeper at the Parker House in Boston for several years and was a teacher of embroidery and fancy work in an institution for the blind in New York City at one time.

During the last six years before she returned to take up her residence here she was a caretaker and nurse for an invalid aunt in North Anson.

Her last few weeks in hospital were happily devoid of much pain, but her final decline in strength was quite rapid. Her death occurred on May 20. Her remains were brought here the same day, and funeral services were held at her late residence on Sunday, at 2 p. m., by Rev. G. W. Sias. Interment was in Elmvale cemetery. Friends from distant places who were present at the obsequies were Edna Moore of Lewiston and Georgetowne Ford of Portland and Temple Dor of Sagadahoc, Mich.

Surviving members of the family are Charles H. of Waterford, Oscar of New York City and Emma, of Waterford. Floral contributions in memory of the deceased were many and beautiful from friends in Portland and Waterford, and a notably beautiful set piece by the Eastern Star of Waterford, of which deceased was an esteemed member.

Apple trees are blooming well, and several days earlier than usual. Grass is well started.

Road repairing is laid over for one week for lack of teams which are in constant demand for pressing farm work.

The residence of the Misses Knight near the town hall is rendered conspicuous by the recent addition of a wide and finely constructed veranda, of which our resident carpenter, Ned Stone, was the builder.

Monday witnessed thermometers registering 97 to 100 degrees in the shade. Some of our gardens show peas and potatoes growing above ground in spite of the drought.

The residence of Mrs. Perry and daughter in the town village, is newly decorated in a handsome yellow ground with white trimmings. Stuart of Harrison, assisted by his son and Bert Dudley were the painters.

Bear Mountain Grange at its last meeting had an opportunity for a thorough inspection of the Little Giant Gaslight generating apparatus, and decided by a vote to give a contract for the installation of a plant for supplying five lights for the audience room of their building and one out of doors light.

Intelligence is received here of the death on May 22, of Mrs. Alice (Marble) Craig of Farmington, wife of John A. Craig. Mr. Craig is a grandson of John Atherton of this town, and the deceased wife was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. (Clara Noble) Craig of West Farmington.

The sincerest sympathies of all are felt in the behalf the parents and friends of little Dorothy Louise Hill, infant daughter of George and Bessie (Hamlin) Hill, in their sad bereavement. The babe died on May 19, at the age of 13 months, of cerebral meningitis. She was an uncommonly healthy and promising child until within a few days of her decease. The funeral was on Monday, religious services in private with a prayer by Rev. G. W. Sias.

J. R. Hall arrived in town Saturday, from Cumberland Mills, to spend the season in his old home. He is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Anna Fogg, and they will be later joined by Faith, the young granddaughter of Mrs. Fogg, who is in one of the schools of Westbrook. Mr. Hall is bearing his fourscore and eight years right bravely and is taking lively interest in the business activities of the town. He is having his dwelling house put in good repair by interior painting and papering for the occupancy of Mrs. Porter, who has been living in the tenement owned by G. H. Billings. F. P. Hoyt is doing the work of decoration.

Our citizens were lately startled by the announcement that Waterford is to be the honored seat of a handsome and costly building for the reception and care of an institution of venerable origin, which has been slowly and steadily growing for more than half a century, and is soon to take a worthy place as a rival of many other similar institutions in neighboring towns. Reference is had to the well-known circulating library, for many years, been the sole custodians at their variety store in the Central village, Carnegie? No; it was not necessary to solicit aid from any bloated multi-millionaire. The source of the active movement for the establishment of the fine Ladies' Library of Waterford is in the liberality and patriotic public spirit of two native daughters of the town, who helped to found the library in a very modest way as members of the Ladies' Sewing circle in 1850. In 1852 the first instalment of 20 books was purchased. The library is not a public institution nor has it ever received any funds from the municipal treasury. Its only support has been from the contributions of the reading patrons and proprietors. Preparations for the erection of the building are in active progress by the assembling of a large amount of material under the supervision of Hon. John H. Proctor of Bridgton, the noted architect and builder. The foundation and superstructure are to be of concrete and native granite. The lumber for floors and roof are furnished by E. G. Emerson.

HOW TO USE GAS RANGE.

Care Will Result in Increase of Comfort as Well as Economy.
If a gas range is used and properly cared for it will be found a great economy both in labor, strength, time and fuel.

The first thing to bear in mind is the oft quoted slogan, "Matches are cheaper than gas." Don't leave a burner lighted because you are going to need it in five or ten minutes. Turn it off as soon as through using, then light again when ready. Don't light up and then go on to fill the teakettle or get out the frying pan. Have everything in readiness before lighting the flame.

Don't use the large burners when the smaller ones or summer will do just as well. Turn the burners down so as to use only what is needed. After a kettle reaches the boiling point the slightest flame will keep it on the simmer, which is all that is necessary. Watch out always to see that the flame is blue, not red. The red flame is wasteful, indicating imperfect combustion.

If any of the burner holes become clogged, clean out with a wire or remove and boil in a strong solution of soda and water. This last treatment cannot be given, however, with the old style two piece or cemented burners. Don't light the oven more than four or five minutes before you are ready to use it. Longer is waste. Plan the baking so as to do as much as possible at the same time with the same flame.

In getting breakfast, for instance, you can cook the bacon in the oven, heat the milk for the coffee, bake apples and make toast under the flame all at the same time. When nearly done, turn off the gas, and then if you have no warming oven you can set plates and platters in either oven to get heated through. If you have to heat dishwater, that, too, can go in the oven, and if not quite hot enough when ready to use it a moment or two on top of the stove will complete the heating.

Another unconsidered waste in using a gas stove lies in heating more of a liquid than will be needed. For instance, if the average woman is going to make two cupsful of tea she is quite apt to fill the teakettle to the brim with cold water, which necessitates waiting three or four times as long as needed for it to boil, with the gas wasting all the time. By attention to these little details a saving of from 10 to 20 per cent in the month's gas bill can usually be effected.

HOW TO PRUNE ROSES.

Different Systems to Produce Quality or Quantity of Blooms.
The pruning of roses is a troublesome matter to the amateur gardener. Different varieties require different treatment, but a few general rules may be laid down. The pruning of the dwarf growing hybrid perpetuals may be commenced in early spring.

If large masses of flowers are wanted four or five canes may be left two or three feet in length. This will give a large number of flowers not of the best quality. After blooming the canes should be cut back slightly so they will harden for the next season's bloom.

A better method produces quality rather than quantity. It consists in cutting the canes to six or eight inches above the ground. The first year only three or four outside canes are allowed to remain, a few being added as the plant grows stronger. Roses grown in this manner require no stakes, as they are usually very vigorous.

Cold winters often injure the tops of the roses, while the roots are not hurt. The canes should be cut just below the point of freezing, which is often close to the ground. Pruning early in the fall is not recommended.

The Great Drawback.
"Well, the statements they make against you aren't true," said the politician's wife. "Why don't you deny them?"

"I'm afraid it will incite them to dig up some other libelous statements that are true."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Would you like some well aged Cheese

Some cheese is sold far too soon after it is made. Most cheese should be allowed to ripen for about a year before it is sold, fourteen to eighteen months is better still for the best cream cheese. We have several full cream cheeses that are nearly a year old and the one we have just cut is most appetizing. A tiny sample will convince you of its excellence and that it's worth the price, 18c per lb. Come in and sample it at our expense.

Running into Debt.

I know of nothing outside of crime which has caused so much suffering in this world as debt.

There is nothing which ages one more than the worry and anxiety of debt. The constant fear of lawsuits, the terror of possible want, of losing one's business and home, of not being able to care for those dependent upon one—these are the things which sap the juices of life and dry up the very sources of enjoyment.

Everywhere we find men in middle life and later who have no homes, no property, and practically no savings ahead, not because of laziness or incompetency but because they have spent the very best years of their lives in paying up old debts, in trying to get out from under business complications of many years' standing. Every dollar earned is mortgaged.

The Farmer's Boy.

At a meeting of the Presidents of twenty of the nation's largest corporations held in New York, the other day it was a matter of comment that of those present, twelve were "farmer's boys".

When the youngster at home on the farm gets "the blues" and fancies that there is no longer the chance that there used to be to rise above the monotony and drudgery of a tiller of the soil, he can think of those twelve captains of industry who started as he is starting and remember that when they too imagined that it was a hopeless ambition to aspire to win their way to the front in the city.

He wants to remember that the farm has evolved some of the world's greatest men and some of its most conspicuously useful ones and that with the increasing activities of the nation in all directions there is now, more than ever, room at the top for the exceptional man.

In the contemplation of the stirring achievements of the farmer's boy, past and present, if he has imagination, inspiration, when the day seems dark and the future full of gloom. Let him recollect, as the world surely does, that it was the farm that gave us Abraham Lincoln, one of the world's most majestic figures; that gave us Andrew Jackson, Millard Fillmore, the martyred Garfield, Horace Greeley, Sir Isaac Newton and the brilliant Carlyle. It was a farmer's son, Eli Whitney, who created the cotton gin, which laid the foundation for the growth of the cotton industry, now worth $900,000,000 a year to the United States and a farmer's boy, Elias Howe, who emancipated womanhood from slavery of the needle by invention the sewing machine.

Long before Robert Fulton sailed his steamboat, the Clermont up the Hudson, John Fitch, the ingenious product of a Pennsylvania farm, demonstrated that a boat could be propelled by steam by equipping a skiff with an engine and sailing his craft up the Delaware with its aid. Another brainy farmer's boy, Oliver Evans, sometimes called Watt of America, was the first to build and operate a locomotive in the United States. Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper, the whir of which is to-day heard "round the earth, was the modest son of an ordinary Illinois farmer.

The first machine to make tacks was the creation of a Massachusetts farm lad, Thomas Blanchard and the device that furnished the world with the modern screw was the work of a poor Vermont genius, Thomas Harvey, a quiet, thoughtful farmer's son. To the resourcefulness of an Ohio farm boy, Charles F. Brush, who invented the dynamo, the world is indebted for its present day great industrial and power plants that give employment to millions of hands.

Thomas A. Edison, most brilliant of the world's inventors, sponsor for the electric light, the phonograph and a hundred devices, was the son of a poor farm laborer, Patrick B. Delany, inventor of the multiplex, the Delany relay, the telepost automatic telegraph and a hundred other telegraph and cable improvements grew up on a New England farm. From a Wisconsin farm came C. L. Sholes, the inventor of the typewriter, which revolutionized the business methods of the world.

Where service is the only credential that commands recognition and a man's ability must square with his responsibility, the "farmer's boy" who has harkened to the call of the big city will be found today in the front rank of the world's useful workers in every large city on the face of the earth. He makes good and the world needs him.

The cat carries her clothesbrush in her mouth, for with her rough tongue she cleanses her glossy coat as a boy brushes off his clothes. She licks one of her front paws and rubs her face and so is ready for her breakfast.

Foxes, dogs and wolves do not use their mouths when they need to wash and brush, but scratch themselves vigorously with their hind paws and are as fresh as ever.

The cow with her long, rough tongue combs her coat of hair until it is clean and curly. The horse more than any other animal depends on his owner to keep his coat in proper condition, but often he will roll on the green grass or rub himself against a tree or fence.

Field mice comb their hair with their hind legs, and the fur seal in a similar manner spends as much time as a woman in making herself look smart.

Although the elephant appears to be thick skinned and callous, he takes great care of his skin. He often gives himself a shower bath by drawing water into his long trunk and blowing it on the different parts of his body. After the bath he sometimes rolls himself in a toilet preparation of dust to keep off the flies.

SWEDEN.

Rain is very much needed in this vicinity. Grass on dry land is drying up and turning yellow. The farmers are getting along well with their spring work, some few have planted their corn and potatoes. Our correspondent has peas up three inches high and early potatoes up one-half inch.

Your correspondent called on Frank Harmon of Lovell a short time ago. Frank has made a great improvement on his house by building a piazza on the front end and one side. He has two nice large strawberry beds. Frank has a nice farm, good land and knows how to farm. He also has some very nice early chickens.

Some five or six of the young men in this place got together one night last week and planted Mrs. Jennie Denning's garden. They met at 6 o'clock p. m., and before dark had it all planted in extra nice shape. They were all invited into the house and treated to some nice cake baked by Mrs. Denning, also lemonade and some extra nice candy made by the "schoolmarm", Miss Eastman.

Callie G. Briggs has painted his grandfather's house with two coats of white lead and oil and did an extra good job. Callie has hired out to work for his grandfather six months.

Unexpected Guests

The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table—sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handily finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc. Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Chances of Life.

Figures That Indicate Your Probable Future in Years.

Do you ever wonder how long you are going to live? Ask an actuary, the man who figures it all out for the life insurance companies and who can tell with almost supernatural precision.

He'll tell you that if you are 20, and in good health, chances are 12 to 1 that you'll live beyond 30. For longer life he'll offer these odds: To be 40, 5 to 1; to be 50, 3 to 1; to be 60, 1 to 2; to be 70, 1 to 3; to be 80, 1 to 4; to be 90, 1 to 5; to be 100, 1 to 10. Suppose you are 30. Your chances run this way: To be 40, 11 to 1; to be 50, 4 to 1; to be 60, 2 to 1; to be 70, 1 to 1; to be 80, 1 to 2; to be 90, 1 to 3; to be 100, 1 to 10. Or 40 years old. Actuaries' odds are: To be 50, 3 to 1; to be 60, 2 to 1; to be 70, 1 to 1; to be 80, 1 to 2; to be 90, 1 to 3; to be 100, 1 to 10. Fifty-year-olds prospects are figured: To be 60, 4 to 1; to be 70, about 1 to 1; to be 80, only 1 to 5; to be 90, 1 to 10.

Say you are 60. It runs this way at that age: To be 70, 2 to 1; to be 80, 1 to 1; to be 90, 1 to 2; to be 100, 1 to 5. If you are 70 your chances of turning the 80 year milestone are 3 to 8; to be 90, 1 to 5; to be 100, 1 to 10.

Eighty-year-old men and women have only 1 chance in 17 to stave off the funeral until after 90.

If you are 90 there's no hope for you. The actuaries have no figures.

Co-operative Loneliness.

Many a business girl knows the pangs of loneliness. Her home often consists of a bed-sitting room in a cheerless neighborhood and she is debared the pleasure of having a meal in this home of hers with a fellow creature.

She gives herself a hurried breakfast, her dinner only consisting of a light lunch and returns home to a cup of tea and some cake or something of that kind.

This lonely life is led by scores of working girls who have little opportunity of making friends and cannot afford to spend evenings out.

Their case is a hard one and so, too, is that of the women placed in similar through somewhat better circumstances, living in rooms in a cheerful neighborhood, maybe, but still living alone and feeling the lack of companionship.

How nice it would be if three or four of such women, of kindred tastes, could run a small house together and substitute for the oppression of loneliness a cheerful, congenial environment. There would be a common dining room and kitchen, of course, but each should have her own room sacred to herself and if each one helped in a small way to keep the house tidy, one servant would suffice for the general housework and cooking.

Houses offer more rooms and loftier ones at the prices than flats and a co-operative house on the lines suggested would probably afford the inmates far greater comfort than they could obtain by living in rooms in the ordinary way. All expense should be carefully gone into beforehand.

If the scheme were successful, home life instead of solitude would be the welcome result.

A Warning.

The authorities at all institutions run up against some pretty hard cases in the course of a year. One of this nature has recently been cared for at a New Hampshire county farm. A young mother is the victim of the morphine habit and can't live without the stuff. The other night a hurry call was sent for a local druggist to fill a prescription calling for the drug, it being feared that the woman would die before morning if she was not supplied. A pathetic feature of the case is the belief that the woman became a victim of the habit through taking drugs for medicine while ill.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

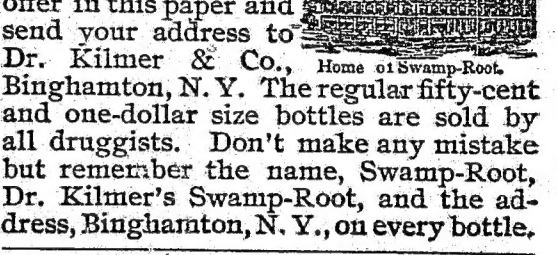

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to:

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Safe Treatment for Headache.

The rational treatment for headache is to get at the cause, if possible, and remove it. Headache is only a symptom of trouble somewhere in the system, and dosing with tablets or powders containing acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives which stop the pain temporarily but weaken the heart, is at once unsafe and unwise. The headache may come from your eyes, then a good oculist can help you at once with proper eyeglasses; but if it comes with furred tongue, loss of appetite, nausea, and constipation, it is usually the result of disordered digestion, or torpid liver, and one or two doses of L. F. Atwood's Medicine will speedily help you by carrying off impurities and restoring the clogged digestive organs to their normal activity. In using this old reliable remedy, you take no chances of weakening the heart's action.

It has a record of sixty years as a safe headache remedy. The "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.
